VANITY

Injectables

His wardrobe is Armani and Boss, and his girlfriend, a top New York dermatologist who's appeared in Vogue, injects him with Botox to preserve his boyish sitcom-star looks. The fashionable toxin is Dr. Trevor Born's specialty, along with the usual brow lifts and facelifts and the more obscure micro-fat injections, thermage and cheek augmentations. Among the fashion set and the very wealthy, he's done them all. 199 Avenue Rd., 416-921-7546.

Day spa

Warm stone pedicures and mandarin-honey Vichy showers are one thing, but the Park Hyatt's lotus blossom of a spa, the neo-Asian-themed Stillwater, is heaven to those who live for extras. Stick around post-treatment: the lounge has biscotti, green apples and tea (you only pay for the bento box lunches); in the change area, find sauna, steam and whirlpool, plus curtained rooms with chaises and your own flat-screen TV. Staff won't give the bum's rush, making the $200 treatments all the more valuable. Park Hyatt, 4 Avenue Rd., 416-926-2389.

Manicure

Often hired to make hands photogenic for fashion mag shoots, Jeanet Allinson, owner of Yorkville's Jeanet Spa & Salon, has shaped the cuticles of Tom Cruise and Nicole Kidman (those were the days), Tia Carrera and Ashley Judd. For $28, a treatment comes with hot towel wrap and exfoliating scrub. 140 Yorkville Ave., 416-921-2996.

Pedicure

The girl talk is easy chez Micky Rotman—you'll find out all about her two daughters, her dog and the years she lived near the beach in Israel—and the peddies are even better. No frills or whale music—just a surgical buffing and smoothing, and expert application of an ultra-durable polish from a private distributor, all for $40. European
